The descent is certain from weak lungs, lingering coughs, throat troubles or bronchitis.

Reactions through bleeding lungs, to consumption, if the first stages are neglected. Thousands of people who are now in their graves would be alive and well to-day if they had heeded the first warnings of those troubles which lead to consumption and death.

The hacking cough, spitting of blood, weak lungs, and all similar troubles of the organs of breathing, will surely lead to consumption, if they are not already the signs of it. Then there are the other indications of the approach of consumption, such as night-sweats, emaciation, or wasting away of flesh from bad nutrition, which, if neglected, lead to certain death.

Ninety-eight out of all the cases of weak lungs, bleeding lungs, lingering and obstinate coughs, and other bronchial and throat diseases, which have been treated with Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, have been cured by it. Do not wait until your throat trouble becomes serious. All bronchial and throat troubles are serious. The time to take the "Golden Medical Discovery" is right at the start.

Even if your throat trouble has been neglected until it has been pronounced pulmonary disease or consumption, do not hesitate to use the "Golden Medical Discovery," for thousands of letters from the sufferers themselves, who are now well, bear evidence that the "Golden Medical Discovery" will cure, even after good physicians have pronounced the disease pulmonary consumption.

"I had been troubled with bronchitis for several years," writes Mrs. Orlin O. Hays, Box 112, Ferguson Falls, Ottertail Co., Minn. "In the first place I had sore throat. I doctored with different physicians and took various medicines, but got no relief. I raised from my throat a sticky substance like the white of an egg. Could not sleep, and had made up my mind that I would not live through the winter. I took Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Favorite Prescription' alternately, and in a few days began to see that I was better. I bought a bottle. I have not felt as well in years as since using these medicines."

Unfailing—Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets for constipation and biliousness.

Its Value as a Preventive and Cure of Pulmonary Diseases.

Dr. E. Fletcher Ingals of Chicago, in a paper with this title, said that the absence of systematic study by physicians and the very meager literature compelled him to be somewhat dogmatic in his paper. One of the most common observations made by medical men, he said, was that the long, narrow, flat chested individual was the one liable to the development of tuberculosis and that in patients presenting this form of chest the chances for recovery were reduced to a minimum.

This observation he considered sufficient to suggest that systematic physical training in aiding the development of the respiratory muscles, thoracic walls and pulmonary capacity would be of great service in preventing tuberculosis and in curing its early stages. Collapsed air cells, he said, furnished a most favorable nidus for the development of tuberculosis. Therefore for the prevention of the disease measures should be adopted to expand the lungs and bring the air cells into the best possible working condition.

He thought it probable that in most cases there was an early tuberculous localized anemia, diminishing the nutrition of the parts and making them more susceptible to the tubercle bacilli and their toxins. Of the large percentage of the human family said to be affected by tuberculosis (80 per cent), the majority recovered, even when the disease affected the lungs, it not proving fatal in more than 12 per cent.

He stated that in most of those who recovered the disease had made but little progress, and that it was only at autopsy after death from other causes that its presence was detected, in view of which it was the physician's duty to recommend measures likely to strengthen the resisting power of the lungs. The beneficial influence of a high altitude he considered probably due to the increased distension of the air vessels, and that as a means of prophylaxis the first measure should be to teach the patient to breathe deeply.

Careful physical training, he said, was of the greatest importance, it being possible for the long, narrow, flat chested to increase the expansion of the chest two or three inches, improve the form and increase the circumference. He believed it possible by physical development to check the process of tuberculosis when it had become established in the chest and to promote recovery.—Medical Record.

Warning to Those Who Would Send Trade Circulars Abroad.

Manufacturers who wish to do an export business must have their circulars and catalogues translated into foreign languages, says Engineering, but care should be taken that the translator is not only a good linguist, but also an expert in the particular business to which the documents to be translated refer. Otherwise the translation is apt to be a matter of ridicule to those to whom it is sent.

We cannot well give an instance to show how an English circular might be translated into bad German, for example, but the London Engineer gives us the following illustration of a translation from another language into English, which is probably no worse than many translations from English.

"We pique ourselves," says the circular, "on making you known that the sale of the — has, by us, undertaken. This prepared, exclusively arranged by some vegetables, is entirely spoiled about something hurtful to the steam boiler blades. By our prepared every calcareous substance is neutralized, reducing it to power, and at the same time steam boiler blades are conserved from the usual corrosion, not only, but the abolition, is totally avoided, as it appears about some very interesting experiments, which have been made in several establishments."

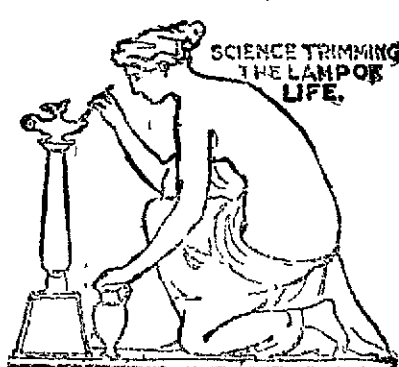

In conclusion the circular adds, "To be willing, this prepared may be de-

BETTER WITHOUT OUR SENATORS.

The silver cause would be in a better position to-day, and its outlook fifty per cent more encouraging if Nevada had not had a representative in the Senate during the last eight years. The JOURNAL makes this assertion boldly and without fear of successful contradiction. In the first place nothing has been accomplished for the white metal during that time. On the contrary, the Sherman law was passed by the assistance of our Senators, which repealed the Bland Act, which compelled the monthly coinage of nearly the amount of the American silver product at that time. This infamous Sherman law, Mr. Stewart declared in every speech he made in the campaign of 1892, "to be better than free coinage." Although he made the assertion in the presence and hearing of thousands of people, two years later, when the fraud was exposed, he unblushingly denied before the same audience, that he had ever uttered such words. The effect of this Sherman law, which was enacted with the assistance of our Senators, is too well known to our readers to require explanation or comment.

Our Senators have almost invariably voted with the party which furnished 95 per cent of the votes in Congress against a double standard, and in bitter opposition to the one which furnished about the same proportion in its favor. Instead of aiding to break down or weaken the Republican gold bug party, they have upon every question, except the financial one, voted to sustain and strengthen it, and to break down the party which furnished nearly all the silver votes and through which political organization rested the only hope for remonetization. The records of Congress will sustain us in the above declaration, and if such action is not sufficient to cause a doubt of the sincerity of our Senators in their professions of friendship for bimetalism, we will give an instance which cannot fail to open the eyes of those most blind, to the meaning and effect of their actions.

Nevada gave three electoral votes for Bryan and Sewell, and Nevada, through her Senators, enabled the Republican party to pay its debt for the money which purchased twenty times that number of votes in the Electoral College. It was well known that Hanna hypothesized the tariff schedule to the goldbug monopolists and trusts which furnished the corruption money necessary for the election of McKinley. Demand for payment was made in the shape of the Dingley tariff bill, which could not have passed the Senate without the votes of both our Senators. By their votes, Nevada furnished the means to pay the Republican campaign debt, which without such assistance could not have been liquidated, by "delivery of the goods." Nevada re-established the credit of the Republican party and encouraged those same monopolists to put up more liberally, if possible, money to again defeat Mr. Bryan in 1900.

The Dingley bill which our Senators supported does not benefit to the amount of a nickel as many actual residents and voters in Nevada, as does the gold standard, in the payment of pensions and the salaries of United States officials in the State, while it has increased the cost of living of every man, woman and child to an aggregate amount far more than is necessary to defray the entire expense of our State Government.

Isn't it about time for the people of Nevada to call a halt upon such palpable treachery of their Senators? Or do they propose to content themselves with blathering talk about silver while nothing is done for the cause, and while its interests and all other interests of the State are sacrificed to our enemies, who are evidently the warmest personal and political friends of our Senatorial delegation?

There is little in President McKinley's annual message to Congress, long as that document is, that indicates with any degree of certainty, what policy he intends to follow toward the Philippines. This indicates that he has not decided upon a policy, or if he has, that he is afraid to make it public until after he gets the Treaty of Peace ratified by the Senate, and the $20,000,000 which we are to pay to Spain, appropriated by Congress. An announcement of a positive policy before then might result in making too many votes against both treaty and appropriation. The President's handling of the war and matters relating thereto, contains no surprises. The message follows just about the lines it was expected to follow—lines plainly indicated for weeks before the message was issued, by official and semi-official emanations from the administration. The message also indicates very plainly that Mr. McKinley isn't as anxious to push along financial legislation as some of the members of his party would like him to be.

CHINESE citizens of Hawaii become American citizens by virtue of annexation, and those Chinese will attack the constitutionality of any act that prevents their free ingress into the United States.

An Interesting Case.

All people are interested in a new case that has recently cropped up in Reno, and they have good reason for being so. This case contains many striking features. It is Mr. F. P. Dann's show case on Virginia street, down by the iron bridge. It is very beautiful, his new window display, of all that is modern in photography. There one may see large opalotypes small autotypes and lovely porcelains. Just think! Artistic photographs on genuine porcelain. And what do you think of this? He makes photographs on handkerchiefs—silk handkerchiefs. What more appropriate present could be imagined than one of these with your photo on it?

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned has been appointed administratrix of the estate of C. C. Powning, deceased, and having duly qualified as such, letters of administration on the said estate have been duly issued to her on this, the sixth day of December, 1898.

Administratrix of the Estate of C. C. Powning, deceased.

Dated at Reno, Nevada, this 6th Day of December, 1898.

The Mysterious Passenger.

The captain of a vessel which was bringing to America in the fall of 1796 a mysterious passenger who had come aboard at Hamburg watched the latter so closely that at last the passenger said one day: "Sir, this is not the first occasion upon which I have observed the attentive scrutiny you bestow upon me. May I inquire the reason?"

"Sir," responded the candid captain, "you look passage on my ship as a Dane. I don't believe you're anything of the kind."

The passenger smiled. The smile was full of perspicacity and confidence and was followed with "Pray, tell me, then, what you believe me to be."

At this question Captain Ewing fidgeted, hesitated and finally blurted out: "Well, to be honest, I think you are a gambler. You've well nigh ruined yourself at home and are now coming to fleece the fools you'll find on shore."

The young man's smile broadened. The next minute he turned grave again, lowered his voice and replied: "Captain Ewing, as you have studied me during this voyage so I have studied you. I have come to the conclusion that you are a man to be trusted. I am Louis Philippe, duc d'Orleans, eldest son of that Louis Philippe d'Orleans who was slain by the guillotine on the 7th of November, almost three years ago."—Argonaut.

Most of Them Paid.

A large company of easily gulled individuals was victimized a short time back in a small country town. By means of posters announcing a grand sacred concert and by a free distribution of complimentary tickets bearing on their face this condition, "No Gentleman Admitted Unless Accompanied by a Lady," a large audience was gathered at the theater. When the crowd began to press in through the doors, the ticket taker began shouting:

"All having complimentary tickets will please pass up stairs to the gallery."

This was a dark, dreary, hot place, not having the capacity for seating comfortably more than 100 people. Those who pressed forward with their tickets were told that if they did not wish to go to the gallery they could be admitted by paying a shilling apiece. Every man who appeared with a complimentary ticket of course had a lady with him and felt a sort of embarrassment if she were not his wife or intimate acquaintance, so he yielded to compulsion and paid rather than retire, and so the scheme succeeded to the extent of filling the house.—London Answers.

Widow's Out of Life.

The fools who give the 24 hours to business and boast of it may criticize the man who can expel business from his mind and enjoy his books, his friends, his club, the theater, the opera, the dinner or the dance, but the cheerful man gets dividends out of life where the other gets trouble.—Chaucery M. Dwyer.

The JOURNAL is informed that suit will probably be brought to annul the marriage between Richard Stoddard and Irma Wilson, which took place in San Francisco on the 13th inst., under rather sensational circumstances.

The advantage of advertising in the JOURNAL was illustrated yesterday by Charles Stoddard coming into the office with the lady's gold watch and chain which was advertised as lost in these columns a few days ago. He found it in a wagon run on Riverside avenue.

Call at "The Model" and see Harry Davis' elegant stock of Christmas novelties, one of the finest displays ever put on exhibition in Reno. Harry will be pleased to show what he has even though you do not purchase. If you intend making presents you can find just what you want at "The Model."

The Sinking Ship.
The Gardnerville Record, which supported Stewart during the campaign, has deserted the sinking ship, and now demands that he explain some of the charges made against him by the electors of his constituency.—Appeal.
So you admit that Stewart is a sinking ship! Why, you astonish us. From your statements we had supposed that the craft "Grand Old Man" was in fine condition, for the voyage up Salt river. You surprise and grieve us, for you had almost made us believe that you believed the stannish old craft was as free from leakage from stem to stern, as a brand new iron kettle; that she was copper-bottomed and would be rated as A No. 1 by unanimous vote of the Legislative Board of Underwriters. You now proclaim the fact that the old hulk is rotten and nothing but vigorous work at the pumps can save her from a downward trip to Davy Jones' locker. It is the greatest shock we have received since the last of your defeats for a nomination for an office in a State convention.

Another Penitent.

The Carson Appeal becomes captious and railing against a typographical error in the Times-Review proceeds to grow hysterically glib. Well, Sam, the most intelligent compositor in this case has been sentenced to confinement and doctored a month's pay, notwithstanding he is but 12 years of age and the only support of a bedridden and widowed mother. We cannot permit mistakes to appear in these columns. Now, you "fire" your typewriter and get an intelligent and capable man to run the Appeal and the Controller's office and perfection will be attained. How does that strike you?—Times-Review.

That's all right, young man, as far as you go. But you put your foot into it still deeper when you speak of the Appeal editor as "Sam." That would have been all right a few months ago, but since he has scratched into a State office, the conditions are changed. Learn to be more respectful to your superiors, young Mr. Bingham, or you will be liable to arrest and imprisonment for contempt of somebody who is a "bigger man than old Grant."

The Death of Bessie Bailey Investigated.
The actual cause of the death of Bessie Bailey, who died suddenly and mysteriously near Elko while en route from the Agnew Asylum for the insane, where she had been an inmate, to the home of her uncle in Indiana, will probably never be known. The Board of Managers of the Asylum, at their regular session Wednesday, took up the case in a formal manner and decided from the evidence in their possession that the girl came to her death from natural causes, entirely disconnected with the management of that institution. This practically settles the matter, so far as the managers are concerned. No attempt was made to ascertain what had been the history of the girl's life in the asylum, the managers deciding that this was uncalled for, as no specific charge of any improper conduct on the part of any attendants regarding the unfortunate girl had been made.

Lincoln County Wants Hancock.

Mrs. Winifred Cross, now residing in Los Angeles, California, the former paramour of convict John Hancock, who is accused of the murder of Geo. Engelke and Peter Edmiston, on the desert beyond The Needles last year, has received a letter from District Attorney McNamee of Lincoln county, this State, in which the statement is made that all efforts will be made to induce Governor Budd to turn Hancock, who is now in the penitentiary for assault, over to the Nevada officers, and that she will be paid her expenses. He promises her immunity from any prosecution for having been connected with the crimes. Mrs. Cross fears that if she goes without her husband Hancock will, in some mysterious way, regain the influence over her that he once had.

Good Rule for Wheelmen.

Dr. Bergerstein, when coming up from the Asylum Wednesday evening, came near meeting a serious accident or causing one to another person. A wheelman met him on the way and his light caused the doctor's horses to sheer suddenly to the opposite side of the road, where there was another biker without a light, companion of the other. The buggy came within a hair's breadth of colliding with the lightless bike, in which case serious injury would have resulted to perhaps both the doctor and the wheelmen. It would be a good rule for wheelmen when riding together at night to keep on the same side of the road when meeting a vehicle, as such a custom would avoid the possibility of such a mishap as nearly occurred in the instance we have related.

Fleecy Woman.

At De Lamar last Saturday evening and night, a prowler called at the house of James Gilles and on the first visit wanted grub, the second time, which was about midnight, Gilles being absent at the mine, appeared at the back door and called to Mrs. Gilles to open it. The little woman responded "All right, wait a minute" and got a pistol. She took a snap shot at his leg and sent another bullet after him as he flew over the back fence. An examination showed next morning that the first bullet snipped the fence post close to the vagrant's legs. Other families have been annoyed by night prowlers of late also, probably the same fellow.

All Night Christmas Ball.

The public is notified that the management of Sheldon Hall will give a Christmas ball at the above-named hall on Friday evening, December 23d. Good music. All are invited. Admission, 75 cents; ladies free. d16w1

A Welcome Home.

John and Charley Henderson arrived on No. 4 to-day. The band was at the depot when the train pulled in and played a lively air in honor of the home coming of Lieutenant Charles Henderson, the last of Elko county's volunteers to return from the fever stricken camps of Florida. Charley was taken with typhoid fever in September and hovered between life and death for nearly eight weeks. More fortunate than many victims of Alger's incapacity he had friends in Jacksonville who took him to their home and nursed him back to health. Had it not been for the loving kindness of Mrs. Arthur Cummer, at whose home he was lying sick, Charley says he would be under the sod to-day. He is truly grateful to her for her loving care and attention.—Elko Independent.

A Narrow Escape.

Thankful words written by Mrs. Ada E. Hart, of Groton, S. D. "Was taken with a bad cold which settled upon my lungs; cough set in and finally terminated in Consumption. Four Doctors gave me up, saying I could live but a short time. I gave myself up to my Savior, determined if I could not stay with my friends on earth, I would meet my absent ones above. My husband was advised to get Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. I gave it a trial took eight bottles in all. It has cured me, and thank God, I am saved and now a well and healthy woman." Trial bottles free at S. J. Hodgkinson's Drug Store. Regular size 60c and $1.00. Guaranteed or price refunded.

A Lesson for Boys.

The other day Arthur Higgins, a Reno boy, stepped on the westbound passenger train for a short ride, intending to jump off again before the train got well under way. As the train was late it pulled out swiftly and was going at full speed when the boy jumped off. He struck some timber as he fell and was severely cut about the face and limbs. The doctors sewed up the various cuts, but it will be some time before he recovers from his injuries. This should be a lesson to boys who are in the habit of jumping on trains for a short ride "just for fun."

Relief Corps Election.

General O. M. Mitchell Woman's Relief Corps No. 27 of Reno yesterday afternoon elected the following officers for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. E. Phelan; Senior Vice President, Mrs. Martha Robinson; Junior Vice, Mrs. Thomas Sullivan; Treasurer, Mrs. P. Stanton Marshall; Chaplain, Mrs. Leonard; Conductor, Mrs. Elizabeth Evans; Guard, Mrs. Eliza Morrill. There will be a joint installation of the Corps officers elected with those of General O. M. Mitchell Post No. 69 January 7, 1895.

Wedding Bells.

Mr. L. H. Davis and Miss May McCarthy were married at the Catholic Church yesterday morning. Both are from Watsonville, California.

No doubt Cupid delights to linger among the flowers and evergreens that grace the balmy air of California, but after having secured his captives there with the ties of love he must needs lead them to Nevada to bind them with the thongs of law. How the little god must despise the marriage laws of California!

A Case of Assault.

Yesterday afternoon at Hymers' stable, James Mead, an employee at the stable, struck Wm. Walsh over the head with an iron poker inflicting a bad scalp wound. The Drs. Phillips dressed the cut which was about two inches long and an inch and a half wide. Deputy Constable Leeper at once placed Mead under arrest, and his bonds were fixed at $500. Mead failed to secure bondsmen and was committed to jail. A date for the trial has not yet been set.

Very Tired of Him.

Congressman Newlands is a candidate for the office of United States Senator from the State of Nevada. Many of the people of the Silver State are growing tired of Senator Stewart's representation of that commonwealth, and desire a younger man who is more in touch with the spirit of the times.—Plumas Bulletin.

Wheelman's Ball.

No one who ever trips the light fantastic is likely to forget the Wheelman's ball which takes place Friday evening Dec. 30th. It will be the grandest affair of the season. It will also be a musical treat as the band is practicing a whole lot of new music which has never yet been heard in the town.

W. D. Tobey of Carson came in on the V. & T. last night and continued west.

REVIEW.

Thyes is always doing something to please his visitors. He has the best of goods and all who patronize him say so.

Anheuser beer and hot tamales are served at the Monarch. Fred and Pete always make visitors welcome and treat them nicely.

Stewart & Melas of the Reno Market always have the finest of sausages and meat delicacies in season and the prim-est meats that can be obtained.

The management of Sheldon's Hall will give a ball Friday evening, Dec. 23d. All attending are assured of a good time. See notice in another column.

Ritter's Elite is the popular resort. He does a jobbing trade and his goods are excellent. People desiring holiday goods of the finest quality should call on Henry.

The Red Cross Society at Wadsworth has disbanded. Of the $35 in the treasury, fifteen was sent to the State society and twenty to Captain Linseott's company at Manila.

W. H. Joy, Superintendent of the Almshouse, is still living, but in great pain caused by cancer in the stomach. The physicians think his death is but a question of a few days.

Wild geese are as plentiful around Honey lake as Democrats in Texas. Last Sunday Drew Taylor, engineer on the N-C-O., bagged eleven of them, one of which weighed 14 pounds.

I. H. Hornback, a Surprise Valley cattleman, is driving a band of cattle down to the market. He will ship them here, providing he does not find a suitable market at Amadeo.

The Washoe Lunch Counter is still furnishing excellent meals at a small figure. Take a look at the display of delicacies in the show window and you will get an appetite pretty quick.

Now is the time to visit Will G. Doane's jewelry store and get a choice of silver novelties and jewelry. His prices are as low, if not lower, than any other establishment of the same kind in the State.
